News Notes.

Ogden, July 30.—The European hotel was the scene of a robbery yesterday, F. A. Campbell, a guest in the house from Salt Lake, being relieved of his wallet containing $300, by a friend who gave the name of Sam Ridgidd of the same city and who registered as Sam McFadden.

As near as could be learned, Campbell came to the hotel on Wednesday evening and secured a room. That night or early the next morning he met Ridgidd in the hotel and the two were together most of the time.

In the early part of the afternoon Ridgidd managed to get into the room of Campbell and extracted the pocket-book. The latter discovered his loss and immediately went out in search of his man. Thinking that may be Ridgidd would go to the canyon, Campbell hired a rig and drove to the Oaks. Upon the road up the canyon Campbell discovered Ridgidd in a vehicle going toward the mouth of the canyon. Upon arriving at a telephone Campbell communicated with the sheriff's office and the Wilson and Deputy Sheriff Clark left immediately for the canyon. A search of the canyon resorts was made by the officers, but the man could

FOR STOGIE SMOKERS.

Whenever a cellar is used by the Pittsburgh stogie rollers, they work in the cellar. When the upper part of the house is used, they work at the staircase landing or at the entrance of the dark room where tobacco is stored. They are sometimes negroes, sometimes white, sometimes Jews of a lower grade than the molders of the leaf, and they are quite willing to take such places as are provided for them. Recently I went into a cellar opposite one of the best factories. Two colored women and one colored man were stripping there in a room whose ceiling was not over seven feet high, and whose only source of air was a narrow door leading by a flight of steps up to the street. The tiny slit of a window at the far end was close barred, and two-thirds of the air space in the room was taken up by bales of tobacco and cases of striped stock. Pools of muddy water news in a number of cases have had warrants issued for the witnesses and brought them into court and have prosecuted the cases.

BILLPOSTING CASE.

The billposting case of which there has been considerable litigation in the district court between the Utah Billposting company and W. B. Sawyer, has had added another chapter, which is in the nature of a restraining order.

The order is directed against W. B. Sawyer and enjoins him from interfering with the billboards of the Utah company and commands him to appear in the district court on Aug. 3 and show why a temporary injunction should not be issued against him. This action, it is alleged, is to prevent Sawyer from engaging in business in this city after having once sold out to the company.

BOX CAR THIEVES BUSY.

Box car thieves are again busy, and after breaking into a car in the Rio Grande yards, Wednesday night, succeeded in carrying off enough merchandise to start a store. Among the more valuable articles taken were fifteen large combination canvases and leather coats, a number of bottles of gin and boxes of pipes. A seal on the door was broken and the robbers succeeded in making their get-away before the watchman had made his rounds. The police have no clue.

ARREST FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

A. J. Heather, an employee of the Columbia Club cigar company, was arrested at about 9 o'clock last evening by Capt. Brown and Detective Hutchens, upon the complaint sworn to by Max Davidson charging embezzlement. Heather had acted as salesman for the cigar company, and it is alleged that while acting in this capacity he collected money which was not turned over to the company.

IRRIGATION CASE.

stood on the earth floor, and the air was foul beyond endurance.

Nearby was another cellar work-room where three Polish girls of low grade and a man who was feeble-minded worked in the underground dampness. From the closed door steps led up to the yard. The room was not over eight feet square, and on dark days the turning light helped to exhaust the oxygen. Except by the gas let there was no way of heating the place in winter or drying the damp floor and wall in summer. And such conditions are not exceptional. It must be remembered that these are the work places of the least vigorous of the children, the old women, the girls who are broken down with illness and who have lost their speed and an inert majority of unskilled women, too ambitious to learn something that pays better, too spiritless to combat exploitation. Elizabeth Butler in the July Charities and the Commons.

BERESFORD AND SCOTT ARE BOTH EXONERATED

London, July 30.—The admiralty, after a full investigation, has exonerated both Admiral Lord Charles Beresford and Admiral Sir Percy Scott from any blame in connection with the mistaken signal incident of the last naval maneuvers. It seems that Lord Charles gave the signal for evolution which, if obeyed, apparently would have brought the cruisers Argyle and Goodhope into collision. Sir Percy, who was on board the Goodhope, doubted the accuracy of the signal and refrained from obeying it. The admiralty finds that the maneuver was not dangerous, but at the same time, as Sir Percy thought there was risk, he was justified in turning his cruiser the other way and Sir Charles so informed him at the time.

GEORGIA'S CONVICT SYSTEM.

Atlanta, Ga., July 30.—George F. Hurt, testifying before the legislative committee investigating the conduct of the state prison board today told the committee of an incident in which one convict armed with a pick, was set upon another convict, similarly armed, in an effort to capture and subdue him. During the encounter this convict drove his pick into the insurgent up to the hilt, the point of the pick penetrating the man's lung. He afterward died from pneumonia.

Lessees of the convicts called to the stand swore that members of the Georgia prison commission knew that they were paying extra salaries to the state officers. Warden testified that they made no attempt to conceal such facts from the commission.

He said he had been expecting to be arrested and has made no effort to secure bail. Parkhurst covered his shortage, it is said, by opening dormant accounts, transferring amounts from one to another as the occasion demanded. The bank is protected by a surety bond.
